Meet the 2019 Oroville Christian School Board

The OCS school board held its first meeting of the calendar year in January and welcomed three new members who join three returning members, along with administrator Debra Ward, and EFC elder board liaison, Joel Cook. One of our major goals this year is to bridge the gap between what tuition covers and the actual operating expenses for OCS. We also want to increase the board's transparency, and to that end, we hope to feature continuing updates about what the school board is doing, as well as answer questions you might have.

So that you know a little about the board members, let me introduce each one briefly:

Joey Cagnacci (new) and his wife, Michelle, have been members of EFC for 18 years and have four daughters who have all graduated from OCS. Joe has served EFC as a trustee, a deacon, an AWANA leader and currently plays guitar in the worship band at EFC.

John Cuny (new) and his wife, Lydia, are recent members of EFC and have three children, two of whom attend OCS. John is a teacher in the Oroville Union High School District.

Don Remley (new) and his wife, Penny, have been members of EFC since 2006. They have three grown daughters and nine grandchildren, four of whom have attended various Christian schools. Don was the superintendent for the Oroville City Elementary School District from 1985 until 2007 and then served as a partner in the Cosca Group, an educational consulting group until the end of 2018. He also served as a consultant for Superintendent of Public Instruction for State of Nevada for two years. He currently teaches an adult Sunday School class.

Caroleah Johnson (board chairman) has been an active member of EFC for 36 years and is a retired dental hygienist, certified health coach, and personal chef. She and her husband, Glenn, have two grown children who both graduated from OCS in the 1980s and five grandchildren. She has served in numerous ministries including seven years as the Children's Ministry director. She currently serves in the sound room on Sunday mornings.

Sharon Rogers (board vice chairman) has been at EFC for 28 years and although now partially retired, has worked for Oroville Hospital Lab for more than 25 years. She and her husband, Bill, have two grown children who also both graduated from OCS in the 1980s and eight grandchildren. Sharon has been an AWANA leader as well as a seasoned VBS teacher.

Petrina Ladendorf (board secretary) is an OCS alumni. She grew up attending EFC and after being out of the area for seven years, returned and became a member five years ago. She is currently an adapted physical education teacher in the Marysville School District. She has also served as an AWANA club director for the past five years.

The question has been asked as to why all OCS board belong only to EFC, so let me answer that. Oroville Christian School is not an independent school. It is a mission of the Evangelical Free Church and as such, both church and board policies specify that all board members be members in good standing of the Oroville Evangelical Free Church. That is not to say we do not welcome input from non members and other parents. Please feel free to contact us with any questions you might have. And you are welcome to attend board meetings which are held on the third Thursday of the month in the OCS Library at 6:00 pm.
