Spring is HERE!

After this last year of fires, rain, thunder and lightning, storms, flooding and what seemed like endless grey, gloomy weather, I know I am not the only one ready for spring to come!

My favorite part of spring is watching all of the new life. To hear the baby birds singing to their parents in the trees. To see the little jackrabbits chasing their parents through the fields and to see the blooms filling in the barren branches on the trees around us.

I have been talking to people lately about the abundance of flowers we are seeing in our area lately. In addition to all of our usual seasonal lovelies, there are new (or new to us) breeds of plants and flowers dotting the hillsides. As we were driving to Paradise the other day, I was inspired by all the flowers filling the fields on the sides of the road. It seemed like there were more now than ever before! I was curious about this so I did a little research.

It turns out that there are some flowers and plants that will only grow after the heat of a large forest fire. These flowers are called Fire Followers. Unlike most plants, which take years to grow back after major fires, these plants thrive. Apparently they will lie dormant for years and are impossible to start from seed. They literally have to be set on fire in order for their seeds to be activated. Flowers like cacomite and mariposa have depended on fire to germinate since the beginning of creation. It is a comfort to know that God can bring such beauty after chaos to remind us of his never failing love.

Like God had promised in Isaiah, "To all who mourn...he will give: beauty for ashes; joy instead mourning; praise instead of heaviness. For God has planted them like strong and graceful oaks for his own glory."

I pray that you find time to see and smell the flowers remembering how much God loves each of you.

But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; They will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint. -- Isaiah 40:31
