At Oroville Christian School we really understand what it means to appreciate the freedom to choose what school our children attend. Because of this we are celebrating National School Choice Week.

When we participate in NSCW we play an important role in helping raise awareness of the education options available to our children! We are especially grateful to be able to have a privately ran Christian school where our children can learn about the things that are important to us! They are able to access a higher standard of academic learning while at the same time studying about Jesus and biblical application throughout their curriculum.

During NSCW our children will be participating in their classrooms in fun activities centered around NSCW and they will also receive a Yellow Scarf, which will represent the celebration we are involved in. On our Free dress day, they have the chance to wear as much yellow as they can and we will take pictures for the yearbook to also celebrate this week.

I pray you all take a moment of your day to thank the Lord that we have a choice of where we send our children, that we have the freedom to worship and pray at school with them.
