Initiative

I Will...

Do what's right before I am told

Not put off until later what I can do now

Do my part for the team

Be a part of the solution rather than the problem

Look for ways to help others

Little children, let us not love in word or talk but in deed and in truth (1 John 3:18)

What's for Hot Lunch?

What did the volcano say to his wife? I lava you so much!
That's a science joke folks!

Yes, the time is approaching for science reports, science projects, and 100 Day projects to be discussed at home and at school. Soon our budding scientists will be using the Scientific Method to explore their ideas and come up with scientific answers to their questions. I look forward to seeing the ingenuity and creativity of the Science Fair projects this year!

Why science? With the knowledge of science, you learn to think logically and solve a problem. It is this problem-solving skill, which is learned in the early years that enables a person to solve problems. Communications, medicine, transportation, and almost everything you see around you are mainly present because individuals have used their knowledge of science to create real life applications.

Science curiosity starts early with your children. The "why" questions your child asks all day long is setting them up to be marvelous scientists and investigators. Try and not be annoyed with your child. Think of their questions as opportunities to give them good and truthful answers about the world around them. If you don't know the answer, it might be an opportunity to discover together!

Science Fair: Thursday, March 21

But those who hope in the Lord will renew their strength. They will soar on wings like eagles; They will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint. -- Isaiah 40:31
